

Monday 3rd June 2019, Term 2 - Week 6

Life Education Trust

Thank you to Tim and Harold! We learnt so much about how unique and special each of us are. We talked about how to be Kaitiaki (guardians) of ourselves and our friends. Tim and Harold taught us about how important it is to use positive thoughts and words. Our personalities are so important and unique! Thank you for the valuable teaching and learning you have provided us over the past few days. Can't wait to have you both back next year!

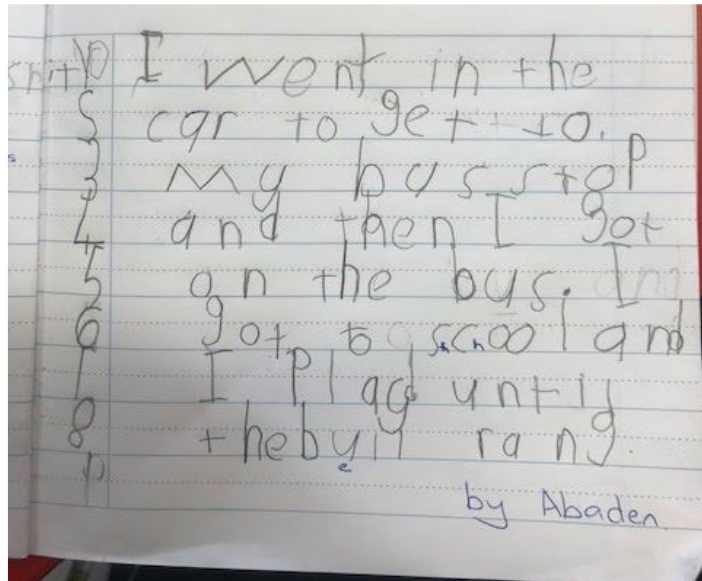

Kainui Cross Country Event FRIDAY!

This Friday (7th June) the Kainui Cross Country races will be held here at school. All our students will be participating, however if you would prefer they did not participate please let us know. Students will need to wear their school uniforms and running shoes on the day. There will not be a prize-giving after the events, as certificates will be given out back at each school. There will be sausages, soup, flavoured milk and juices for sale on the day, as well as Cherry Lane coffee cart on site.

DEVELOPMENTALLY & CULTURALLY APPROPRIATE PRACTICE

What are the Reporter and Photographer roles all about in Wharite during Investigations?

Each day there is one student who is the Reporter and one who is the Photographer. These roles can vary depending on the Learning Intentions and the child completing the task. The teacher decides what the task will be based on the child's learning needs. For example, if a child is the Photographer and is currently learning to recognise numbers to 10 the teacher may decide that he or she takes photos of numbers to 10 around the room. This will then be used later on in the day during the child's maths lesson. For the child who is the Reporter, the teacher may decide that because they are learning to read and write the letter m, they will collect a range of objects which begin with that letter and report back at Reflection Time. This task will also be used during the Reporter's literacy lesson later that day. The theory behind these tasks is that it is 60-80% more likely for children to retain new learning/concepts if it is introduced by themselves or a peer. So they are powerful ways to introduce learning during lessons.
